

Support Amateur Golf in Kentucky by Joining the Kentucky Golf Association's Members Program in 2010

Amateur golf in Kentucky has never been stronger, due in large part to the Kentucky Golf Association (KGA). The KGA, Kentucky's governing body for amateur golf, has a long and grand history of promoting and protecting the game in Kentucky, and serves the game through:

- Uniform handicapping service to over 200 clubs and courses in Kentucky - reaching over 27,000 golfers
- Course rating and measurement services for Kentucky's golf courses
- Conduct of golf competitions - including the historic Kentucky State Amateur Championship
- Promotion and support of junior golf through the Pepsi Junior Tour and other activities and initiatives
- In cooperation with the United States Golf Association, serves as an information and advisory source on the Rules of Golf, Amateur Status, Handicapping, and Course Rating in Kentucky

By becoming a KGA Member, you will assist in supporting the Kentucky Golf Association in its mission to promote amateur golf and to make golf a better game in Kentucky. There are three levels of membership and rates/benefits are listed below. New for 2010 – each level includes a complimentary one-year subscription to Golfweek magazine – a $79 value!
